Art contest

The St. Marys River Management Committee is holding a contest seeking original art for reproduction on its St. Marys River Celebration river cleanup T-shirt.

Drawings submitted for the competition should reflect images of or associated with the St. Marys River, such as familiar scenes, wildlife, plant life or river life, and should positively promote the function and value of the river and its tributaries. More guidelines are listed in the contest rules.

Rules and official entry forms are available at www.saintmarysriver.org by clicking on the paint palette in the upper left-hand corner.

The contest will end on Sept. 30 and judging will take place in November.

Each year, volunteers helping in the river cleanup receive a T-shirt for their participation. The current T-shirt design is about five years old. The SMRMC agreed at its March meeting to sponsor a contest to find a new design.
